TECH & AI IMPACT ON CFO

BY NICOLAS BOUCHER

1

Automation of Financial Processes

With the increasing use of technology, many financial processes have become automated (accounts payable and receivable, financial reporting, and budgeting). CFOs are now responsible for overseeing these processes and ensuring that they are functioning effectively.

Practical Tip Automation Efficiency

Use PowerQuery, RPAs and Python to streamline accounting, reporting & budgeting – freeing up valuable time for strategic oversight.

2

Real-time Financial Reporting

Accessing real-time financial data is allowing CFOs (and management) to make better and faster informed decisions. This could be the effect of a price change on the sales. Or the inventory levels movement based on a new supply chain strategy.

Practical Tip Cloud & API

Get a cloud based solution with APIs and interface with other data sources to allow for dashboarding with financial and non financial data.

3

Data Analytics

Analyzing large amounts of financial data quickly and accurately is now possible and easy to access. A business intelligence tool like PowerBI can help CFOs identifying financial trends & outliers, drilling down into details and have dynamic dashboards for management meetings.

Practical Tip Start using PowerBI

PowerBI is the number one BI tool. It has the advantage to be easy to use, connected with Microsoft tools and you can find easily learning materials and staff to use it.

4

Cybersecurity

As technology has become more integrated into financial processes, CFOs have become responsible for ensuring the cybersecurity of financial data. CFO needs to review with their IT team and risk management team how to secure the financial information.

Practical Tip Cybersecurity hot topics

Three hot topics to be aware of: payment fraud / leakage of financial data / social engineering. Train yourself and your team on this but also make sure to stay updated.

5

Integration of Financial Systems

Having integrated systems improves the efficiency and accuracy of financial processes. CFOs need to use their position & influence to align IT projects between functions and avoid silos inside the company. Connecting non financial data with financial data will allow the creation of new business insights.

Practical Tip Harmonized Systems

Oversee seamless integration of financial systems, elevating process accuracy and efficiency.

6

Artificial Intelligence

1) Use LLMs platform like ChatGPT or Bard to increase the productivity of your team (faster writing, more ideas, help to solve complex problems)
2) Implement AI in your forecasting by feeding historical data and external data to calculate your forecast
3) Start your secured LLM and feed it with your historical data and policies

Practical Tip Train your teams on Python

To get the full benefits of AI (forecasting, detection of fraud, outliers), Python is the best programming language to run these models. The fastest way to learn it is to use ChatGPT.

How to use AI to turn yourself into a content machine.

1. Never get “creators’ block” again. Use a content matrix and my AI prompt.

Act as an expert content strategist and writer.

My audience is [audience details]
Their common problems are [list problems]
My business helps the audience to [how you solve problems]

Help me create a content matrix.
X axis = content types: Actionable How-To, Inspirational Advice, Example Breakdown, Contrarian take, Unique Observation, Present vs. Past, Listicle, Social proof about myself, Lessons learned, Benefits, Reasons Why, Common Mistakes

All relate to the topics in the Y Axis.

The Y axis contains my topics:
Generate a list of topics based on my audience, problems and how my business helps.

Generate the full context matrix, giving headlines for each cell. Make sure the content types are on the X axis and my topics in the Y axis.

2. Start with high-quality blog, article, newsletter. Use a technique called 'revision prompting'. Don't use a 'mega prompt'.

3. Turn 1 x high-quality piece of content into 20-50+ pieces of short content. Use ChatGPT to do this.

4. Start short form video. Use ChatGPT to write 'bullet scripts'. You'll never know what video will change your life.
